

International Brotherhood of Magicians
RING NO. SIX

Delaware Valley Conjurers Club

Newsletter

OCTOBER 1993

Notice is hereby given that the next stated meeting of the Delaware Valley Conjurers Club will be held on Monday, October 11, 1993, at 7:30 post meridiem. If you still have any money left over from last month's hugely successful Jack Steck auction, bring it Monday night - the boys from Daytona Magic will be bringing their road show to the DVCC for a one-night stand. Basically, we'll all be treated to a dealer demo for as long as we can stay awake (in the sense that they have a lot of stuff, not that they are boring). Save your pennies, tell your friends, and come out Monday night.

Note to Phillies fans: the Monday game is a day game, starting at 3:00 p.m. Unless the game goes extra innings, there is no excuse for not showing up.

With all of the magic we've all accumulated in the past year, through auctions, conventions, etc., surely there is something worth performing. Perhaps you'd like to enter a contest (November), or do something at Family Night (December)? I was thinking that it might be fun if for Family Night we have a segment where the performances are made up of magic that came solely from the Wade/Steck auctions (there's an obvious Cassidy joke here, but it's just too easy).

I was stunned when I read in a national magical periodical (M A G I C) a plug for Bob Little's Super Sunday. I didn't think that Bob was organized enough to do a press release, or whatever. In any case, November 7 is the date of Bob's next soiree, and the featured lecturer/performer is Simon Lovell.

Not much else to report - slow month.

Next Month: November - Night of the Contests - start practicing.