JULY 1995

Notice is hereby given that the next stated meeting of the Delaware Valley Conjurers Club will be held on Monday, July 10, 1995, at 7:30 post meridiem. It's workshop night, part III (don't you just love sequels?). We're having yet another workshop session, this time with coins. Bring a pocketful of change, and let's see what you can do with it. And let's see how many coin routines we can do with all of those damn POGs that seem to be everywhere.

The following is a repeat of the same item as last month - I'm too lazy to try to rewrite it:

One of George Spence's many theater groups is looking to raise money, and it was suggested that perhaps we stage a benefit for the Marple Players, and we'd split the net proceeds. We're looking at doing two shows, either a matinee and evening show, or a combination over two days. The dates being bandied about are Saturday and Sunday, September 30 and October 1. We'll talk more about it Monday night, and should there be enough interest, we'll probably do it. Come ready to volunteer.

Save your pennies - there's stuff to plan for:

- 1) MAES 1995. September 7, 8, & 9. Lancaster Host Resort. $60. Contact Joe "Pepino" Curcillo at 717.545.2324 for more info.
- 2) September meeting: lecture by Chuck Fayne, West Coast comedy magician.
- 3) Bob Little's Super Sunday. November 12. Special guest star: Steve Beam, of TrapDoor fame.

As part of my day job as a PC techie-dweeb (that's what it says on my business card), I get a lot of PC-related junk mail. I was glancing thru one of the many CD-ROM catalogs I get, and I found a couple of CD's that purportedly teach magic. I don't recognize the magician on the CD's, but apparently this is the wave of the future - even DeSouza is getting in on the act. He's flying to Israel sometime soon to make one of these things, along with some other big names in the biz. So, look for Marc on PC near you. Next for Marc - the DeSouza screen saver.

Next Month: August - annual night out at the Chinese restaurant.
